NEIGHBORHOOD NEWS

A HUGE THANK YOU: Our subdivision garage sale was a huge hit! A big thank you to Kari Valentine for organizing this event. She picked up Items donated & items homeowners could not transport, had tables ready and arranged for items left over to be donated to Moment of Truth Ministry (see below). Unfortunately we had several homeowners who rode the skirts of our advertisements and had a sale at their house instead of joining us which caused our event to lose potential customers. Thank you to the board for your support!

Moment of Truth Ministry: This is a housing ministry with 2 community stores. They believe that as we walk beside people in the context of their daily lives, and help lift the chaos by helping establish jobs & living conditions they are able to see Jesus more clearly. This journey is ongoing. Kingdom Works Community Store is located at 7 Daisey Lane in Boerne and accepts donations at this location.

RECYCLABLE ITEMS: Our recycling efforts can assist you with your LEED Certification paperwork, Special Events, Single Stream Recycling, Cardboard and Paper Collection, Specialty Use, and Garage Cleanouts. Accepted Items for Recycling: Aluminum & Tin Cans, rinsed; Plastics No. 1-7; Glass (All Colors); Mixed Paper; & Cardboard/Paperboard. NO Styrofoam! NO plastic wrap or bags!

HIGHEST ELECTRICAL RATES: Bandera Electric reported that the highest electrical rates occur between 2-6pm. Save energy, save money!!

EASEMENT MOWING: If your property backs up to an easement, our bylaws state you must keep that easement mowed. When a big rain comes, we do not want water issues due to homeowners NOT keeping their property mowed!

POOL NEWS: The pool is open Tuesday through Sunday

Don't Sweat Summer Bills Relax and enjoy lower energy costs By Texas Co-op Power Staff Issue: June 2014

A few simple steps can help you lower your electric bills this summer:

- Keep blinds or shades closed. When open, the sun can really heat up a room. Turn off the lights when not needed. They add heat just like sunlight does.
- Clothes dryers are energy intensive and produce heat. Try using a clothesline instead. Run only full loads in your clothes washer and wash with cold water.
- Look around and see where you think cool air might escape. Any door that can be closed should be closed. That leaves less living space to cool.
- Consider doing exercise outside. The less movement you do inside, the less heat you produce.
- Set the A/C thermostat and leave it. Bring in cool morning air with a box fan in a window. Shut windows as the day warms up.
- If you have a central air system, keep the fan setting in the "on" position instead of "auto." It will circulate the air throughout your home and make it feel cooler.
- Leave the house for a trip outside or to the library, a store or the movies. When you do go, make sure everything is turned off and items that use standby power—such as electric coffee pots, TVs and computers—are unplugged.
